Overview

Google Maps Review Scraper

- Went through all of the google reviews through all 1613 google maps Azul Reviews using a scraper as of September 22nd 2023.
- There were 1613 Records of highly Unstructured data which needed wrangling and cleaning

Dataset Columns

1. author: Name of reviewer
2. review_body: This column contains the textual content of the restaurant reviews. It includes the feedback and comments provided by the reviewers about their dining experiences.
3. review_rating: This column appears to represent the numeric ratings given by the reviewers to the restaurant. Ratings are typically used to express the overall satisfaction of the reviewers with their dining experience.
4. review_tags: It seems that this column might contain additional descriptive tags or labels related to the restaurant reviews. These tags could provide more context or information about the reviews. "Dine in | Dinner |20-30"
5. category_rating: This column possibly contains ratings or scores related to specific categories or aspects of the restaurant experience, such as food quality, service, ambiance, etc. These ratings may be separate from the overall review_rating. : " "Food : 4/5 | Service : 4/5 | Atmosphere : 5/5"
6. date: Date when the restaurant reviews were posted or written by the reviewers. The dates could be in various formats, such as "5 years ago," "3 years ago," "4 years ago," "3 months ago," "a year ago," and "10 months ago"

Sterling Gurney	I really enjoyed my meal. My wife and I went as enthused as I was. Good prices and quality food seen like a good recipe to me. She wanted more ambiance.	5	None	None	3 years ago
Michelle Meinert	I had an amazing Pollo Caldo Mexican soup. The flavor was very nice and it had rice instead of corn, which I love. The servers were friendly and attentive. It felt very comfy there. I'll definitely go back again.	5	None	None	4 years ago

Jeff Allen	Azul is quickly becoming my go to place for solid food and drinks! Originally I stayed away from there assuming it was gonna be another overpriced Mexican joint in the Mill Creek area(my La Palmera opinion from down the street. I couldn't have been more wrong, the prices are actually quite fair and I never feel under-poured with my cocktails either! 	stands out to me the most about Azul is that it's the first restaurant I've gone to where I don't find something I like and stick to it, I literally try something new every time and I will continue to vouch for this place. The wait staff is very friendly and very consistent as well.

4. Check All datatypes

Converting Date Data Type

SQL Query Construction

- Needed conditionals to check for 'years ago', 'months ago', etc. syntax from date column

- Take substring of number used in date string
- Use PostgreSQL interval aggregation from subtracting the date from the parsed number in order to convert type

In [6]: %%sql
SELECT date,
CASE
    WHEN date ILIKE '%year%' THEN CAST('2023-09-22' AS DATE) - CAST(SUBSTR
    WHEN date ILIKE '%month%' THEN CAST('2023-09-22' AS DATE) - CAST(SUBSTR
    WHEN date ILIKE '%day%' THEN CAST('2023-09-22' AS DATE) - CAST(SUBSTRIN
    WHEN date ILIKE '%week%' THEN CAST('2023-09-22' AS DATE) - CAST(SUBSTRIN
END AS calculated_datetime

Review Body: Horrible service. Horrible food. It was a complete waste of time and waste of money. I had my hopes up to eat authentic Mexican food. I'm not sure if this is some sort of Mexican fusion establishment but it is definitely not what I expected. They serve Asada with mashed potatoes and green beans! The salsa in comes one way and that is mild. I was really hoping to like this place, but I was let down. Seating is a little cramped towards the back of the restaurant.

This is obviously a huge health hazard and has turned me away from coming here. Considering this has happened to me twice, I wonder how many other people have been served undercooked chicken or gotten sick from the food here.

Review Body: I'm from Texas and wanted some Mexican food. This place had no flavor and none of the dishes we ordered tasted like it should have. I ordered the Tacos al Pastor. The meat was dry and had the most overwhelming pineapple taste from what I assume was the marinade they used and all these little chunks in the verde sauce. The meat for the carne asada and chicken fajitas were also dry and bland. The plates are overpriced for bland tasting food. This was an awful experience and an insult to Mexican food or fusion...whatever this place was aiming for. The only good thing was the chips and salsa. :/

Review Body: I visited this restaurant on a double date it was so loud I was unable to hear the people sitting directly across from me. The meal I had was overpriced yet mediocre. Also I asked for their hottest hot sauce and I received something that seemed to have a similar Scoville rating (the measurement of how spicy something is) to taco Bell fire sauce, I was hoping for something much hotter. Overall I did not recommend this restaurant.

Review Body: My boyfriend and I came here for late happy hour tonight, ordered $25 worth of food and honestly with no intention of getting any drinks. We were informed of the $3 drink minimum per person and I reluctantly ordered a $6 drink for the both of us, thinking that we should be covered. Food was great but customer service was nonexistent. We got billed for a drink minimum and was told that one of us didn't order a drink. I tried to explain the confusion and ask to speak with the manager. Not only did she not come by, she just told the waitress that policy is policy. This is absolutely ridiculous, we had all the right intention of getting enough food for the deal and got a drink to respect your policy. The drink was horrible anyways, had the house margarita and it tasted like lemon juice, I could only drink half of it! With that said, I am never coming back again, either with my boyfriend, friends, or coworkers; I am bringing my business elsewhere. This is not how you treat customers. Crazy to think a manager would choose $3 over a customer, and didn't even had the decency to speak with me in person.

Also, can you please get some employees that actually know how a trunk operates? Their online ordering system is also a joke. It locks you out during certain times, and it is not immediately obvious when those times are. It just says online ordering not available. Also, the past two times, I have arrived when the online ordering said it would be ready, only to wait a half hour for it to be ready. I was willing to let that go, because the young man that brought my food out those two times was more than polite. This time the two girls they had working, had no clue. Couldn't operate my trunk. The first girl just came out and immediately ran back inside. Don't know if I will be back.

For example, my fajitas came with a whole chopped steak on top of the vegetables, rather than stirred together and the sour cream had chives mixed into it. Rather than being an improvement, it seemed more like being different just to be different and didn't add much. Would not recommend.

She did not check on the food, she did not offer even a second drink, and she did not come back with the check. We had to hail down another server to help us. The food was mediocre—had to eat our tacos with a fork, the habanero shrimp was kind of funky. Good salad though. I wanted to try azul because of their great reputation, but I left with a feeling that they are very over-rated. Review Body: I really wanted to enjoy the experience here after reading the previous reviews, but unfortunately, the poor treatment that I had received from our server as well as who I believe was the front of house manager currently on duty. I arrived to the restaurant with a party of three. We had asked to be seated outside and away from people as I suffer from anxiety, and we were initially seated outside. The server then returns, after already bringing us our water, and explains that she needs to check everyone's ID. I explained that I did not intend on ordering alcohol because I did not have my license with me (I am twenty nine years old, and definitely don't look like a minor, for clarification) and she explained that it was technically bar seating and that we would have to move. I protested, as that was not explained when we were seated, no open bar was present, and I was not intending on ordering alcohol. She said I could speak to a manager if I liked, I declined and said that I simply felt embarrassed and would likely tell others or not return. Despite my declination, she got the manager involved anyway. I re stated my concerns to the manager and said that I didn't feel her involvement was necessary, and she she stated it was because I had "threatened to write a review". At this point; I got up out of my seat, explained that it is my freedom to do so, and that I no longer wish to eat here. I asked for the owner's card or contact information, which she refused me and referred me to the general email box. Please inform your guests of things like this before seating them, and please in the future don't be rude to customers who are already struggling with anxiety when you fail to adequately inform them of circumstances. Staff were rude and disrespectful and I cannot recommend this facility.

I don't know if this is actually a new thing or my previous servers told me incorrect information. So, beware, the carne asada is NOT gluten free, even if you've ordered it for years. Review Body: In all fairness, I know a lot of people who absolutely love this place. As for myself, I feel it's only decent at best. The inside of the restaurant does have a nice well polished, upscale feel, but that's where the fun stops for me. Long wait times, overpriced mediocre food and drinks, and poor service is what will prevent me from going back in the future. People can throw their money and time at this place, mine will be spent at another restaurant down the street.

Review Body: Found free parking behind this restaurant. It was a very busy place. We had a 30 minute wait for our group of four for dinner. There is an outdoor bench available, as well as, small amount of indoor seating while you do. Restrooms inside were clean. Outdoor seating available during better weather. Fresh ingredients. Three of us enjoyed their meal. I was very let down by what I ordered, and expected, versus what I received. Flavors were bland. Hot sauce (habanero sauce) they offered tasted like a soured bolognese with no spice. A different order was their fajita, but the veggies were steamed and not grilled. Chicken was dry. Melted puddles of sour cream.

Review Body: This place was a pretty big disappointment. Both my wife and I were VERY underwhelmed with the service (whenever there was any to be had since it took them ten minutes to even ask us for our drink order). Fair enough they were busy so I can forgive that to some degree. What I can't forgive is getting a well done carne asada when I asked for medium rare. Eating shoe leather isn't my idea of a tasty meal. My wife was similarly disappointed with her meal. The big problem I had however was the fact that as far as local restaurant experiences go it's over priced for very "meh" food. If I want good authentic Mexican or south America food there at a ton of better options at a significantly better price point. Maybe this is a great place if you enjoy the happy hour scene and cocktails and wine with dinner (we certainly do) but to be so underwhelmed on what seemed such a great restaurant is sadly a deal breaker for us. We won't be back. It's worth pointing out however that like many other reviews say their chips and salsa are pretty good. Just wish that translated into the rest of their menu.

Review Body: Let me start off on a positive note and say the steak and shrimp fajitas, bacon wrapped jalapeños, champagne margaritas, wine selection and even their salsa are all incredibly delicious. The steak is cooked to a nice medium, tender juicy and flavorful. However, we got seated in a booth near the back. There was a table directly behind my boyfriend and I full of rowdy drunk and annoying people. I tried to ignore it but I couldn't even hear what my partner was saying because of the noise coming from that table and the music was too loud. Not to mention they had a basketball game playing on a tv in the corner. All of that combined made it impossible to have a pleasant experience as the noise was getting unbearable. I asked our waiter to ask the table to please settle down a bit and he flat out refused. Spending a lot of time in the hospitality industry, if I had a complaint about another table I would go speak to my manager to see if anything could be done. I ended up breaking down and crying because I was having a sensory overload. My boyfriend then asked if we could move tables so we did and the manager came and apologized. Perhaps better training on how to handle customers who are unhappy with the atmosphere should be in order. I won't be returning on a busy night again. But I will return because the food is delicious!

Review Body: We came to Azul before the Friday, afternoon Happy Hour rush. Azul is close to my home, and I heard it was a fun spot. I also checked the reviews as well, and figured I made the right choice.....I was wrong. We were seated in a booth. When I saw our server, she CLEARLY was not happy to be there or serve us; I hope it was the former. She was NOT friendly at all. I tried to keep it light and casual, and even asked for her recommendation on what drinks to choose. She said all their drinks were good __. I knew immediately, I was done. I even tried to joke with her about my friend needing several drinks, since she had a rough week, but no engagement, no smile....nothing! From how she walked to our table, to how she placed the menu down, it was clear that she was bothered about something. She made us feel like we were the problem. I asked for a margarita, and the check. She comes back to our table, and says the server added a 2nd shot in error. That was the first time she gave a partial smile. By that time, we just wanted to leave. Only one drink we had, and we were out. I did NOT want to give her a tip, but ended giving her something anyway, because I know serving the public can be tough sometimes, if not stressful. I just figured if the customer is friendly and trying to make the server's job easier, the server would be more appreciative, and outgoing. This server was not. When I received the bill, she writes down "Thank you," on the bill __ Thank you? No, Thank you! I gave her $2, 1 for both of us, and we went to La Palmera down the street. Our server there was outgoing, helpful, and made us feel welcomed when we first arrived. I pride myself on respect, customer service, and make it a point to show people how important they are, even if it's only a brief interaction. I'm just disappointed that our experience wasn't better, especially after a trying week. I'm sure Azul is a nice establishment, but unfortunately, our server ruined the experience for us.

Review Body: OK, it's cute and the service was friendly. The food seemed fresh but I was a bit disappointed in the flavors. We tried the jalapeño poppers, jalapeños wrapped in bacon and filled with cream cheese, as a starter. Not very spicy and the bacon was not very flavorful – how is that even possible? I had the Carnitas. Too much cinnamon flavor and a bit dry. There was guacamole on the side which was too runny and had a strange flavor I could not identify. The beans, rice and side flour tortillas were good and the complimentary chips and salsa were good. Someone else might like the flavor combinations and mild poppers. Not my cup of tea, though

I'm a 53 year old Colorado native, still living here; and my rule is "never eat Mexican food outside of the Mountain Time Zone." I know better. We were visiting the area and stopped in for a meal. Nice place, clean, and the service was EXCELLENT. But our meals we were not happy with. I also know better than eating seafood in Colorado. It doesn't compare to anything you all have near the coast.

Review Body: We've been coming here for years, and it's always been amazing. Their carne asada was to die for, chips and salsa were fantastic, and we never minded spending over $100 every time because the quality was amazing. But here lately, they've been off their game. Minor things at first like forgetting to add silverware in to go orders, mixing up appetizers & meals, not adding sauces that were requested. But this last time might actually make us stop coming. We called at 230 and were told dinner started at 3, so we hung around for half an hour. Except when we called back, we were told we were misinformed and it starts at 4. Inconvenient, but not a big deal. We drove home and waited an hour just to be safe, then called to order. The gal that answered the phone was flippant, and kept asking me to re-repeat the items I wanted, pausing for long periods, just very odd. We go pick up, only to find when we get home that the steak is burnt, none of the requested (and paid for) side dishes are there, no sauces, and we were given a meal version of an appetizer we requested. I suppose the cost should have tipped us off as to something being incorrect, but we've never had an issue this big before. Its really a shame because it was our favorite date night place, and a go-to for those nights we just didn't feel like cooking. Hopefully things improve soon, but really just disheartening to see these issues becoming more common. On a positive note, the staff when you are actually eating there are always really kind, and the building itself is stunning and clean!

The food was great and so were the drinks...we came for the Margaritas. As you know this restaurant has low light, very dim and as for someone with eye disease and no peripheral view in the left eye, I couldn't really see.. I asked my spouse (at the time) to guide me to the polish room but he refused so we waived down the staff, he told them I couldn't really see and she walked me to the polish room. At first I thought she was very friendly, however when I was in the polish room, another server asked that we leave. She told my spouse I was cut off and we had to go, I was so taken back, I had asked him if he had told them I was blind, he did not, I tried to waive her down but after the staff was a bit rude and so we just paid the bill n left.

What I wound up with were two pours that I later discovered to be the cheapest and then the spendiest on the menu, with no additional context or insight. I'm not price sensitive by any stretch, but it would be nice to learn or get some insight from someone I imagine to be an expert, though. Maybe the bartender doesn't know Mezcal? Or maybe just different tastes. Whatever. Not a bad place but unlikely to visit again.

Review Body: If anyone has a bad word to say about this place it's because they don't want more people eating there creating wait time. The worst part of the Pandemic closure was not being able to get Sunday Morning Bacon Benedict. I buy 32 oz of their salsa once a week to have at home because I've never had better. The Carne Asada is epic. The fish tacos are tremendous. The salmon with the mango salsa and coconut rice is off the charts. I'd say more but if I tried anything else I wouldn't be able to make a decision on what to order so I don't. The staff is so nice it feels like you're eating at a friends house. If I could afford it I'd eat there three times a day 7 days a week. I've never been there and eaten with anyone who didn't like their meal. Please don't go I hate waiting in line! Also if you play your cards right you can fill up on free chips and salsa before your food comes and then just put it in a box and take it with you for later. Only restaurant review ever written. May keep me from retiring in a warmer client or asking the owner to franchise wherever

I land. Double Hi-Fives to everyone in the building.

Review Body: They tried something different here and it's called a seafood en chilada. That's right, fish and shrimp in your enchilada. Normally cheese and seafood is a no-go but this restaurant said "no, go....ahead with putting seaf ood and cheese in a tortilla." Wouldn't say it was anything too special or ou t of this world, but it was a dang good chilad. If you're thinking Pan-Latin food and want a little bit of variety, then give this place a shot.

Review Body: Azul is decent, and they have a few must-try dishes (like the avocado and corn dip and the beef fajitas,) but most of the menu isn't anything special. In fact, it isn't Mexican so much as it is Mexican-American fusion...so, burgers with a Mexican flair, bland fish tacos, etc. However, they are one of the few places in Mill Creek that are open late for dine in or take-out, but during late-night happy hour the menu is greatly reduced.

Review Body: Great place to grab drinks & apps in the Mill Creek Town Center. Upscale casual, w/bar seating as well as family seating. The beef bites are my fave. The crab cakes are a little doughy and just ok. And last visit my salmon was undercooked. Raw in the middle, which is great for sushi but not what I'm looking for over rice & veg, so maybe keep an eye on that. Drinks are good, but the cocktail menu could use some reimagining. You can't go wrong w/sangria though! Service is good and parking is free and adequate. You may have some trouble finding a spot on a Fri or Sat night, but mostly, there's room street side. Plus there's overflow parking in back. Reservations not required or recommend. Wait up to 15 mins on weekend evenings on rare occasions.

Review Body: Went out for a date with my wife, decided Azul was our jam. Ended up waiting a bit for our entrees...not terribly long, just longer than expected. Didn't mention anything to the waiter, and honestly, it didn't even cross my mind. The manager delivered the food, and upon doing so said, "So sorry about the wait." I replied cordially, not thinking much of it. When the check came by, the waiter mentioned the manager felt bad about the wait time and had compensated our meal. The bill only listed my 1 beer! We were blown away. We couldn't help but leave an awesome tip and a "thank you" note on the receipt. Lets be real: the chips and salsa are enough for anyone to frequent this joint. But add the incredible attention to customer satisfaction – MAN. Super great experience tonight, and every other time we've eaten there. (Not guaranteeing every late meal gets compensated like ours did, but hopefully it speaks something about the kind of spot this is). Azul, I've loved you since you opened as one of the early adopters of the Mill Creek Town Center (I'm truly a n OG from when you used to NOT be busy). You've still got my business, old friend.

Review Body: Azul is quickly becoming my go to place for solid food and drinks! Originally I stayed away from there assuming it was gonna be another overpriced Mexican joint in the Mill Creek area(my La Palmera opinion from down the street. I couldn't have been more wrong, the prices are actually quite fair and I never feel under-poured with my cocktails either! The amount of flavor I've received from the entree's I struggle to find comparisons to. Oh what stands out to me the most about Azul is that it's the first restaurant I've gone

e to where I don't find something I like and stick to it, I literally try something new every time and I will continue to vouch for this place. The wait staff is very friendly and very consistent as well.

Review Body: I have always gone to Azul with family and friends. It has the best atmosphere, staff and menu. It's a win every time. But tonight was a truly different experience. My aunt was with us and she is a vegetarian. She has been here before but to our dismay the meal she enjoys wasn't completely Vegetarian. Chase our server took her in detail of everything about the plate and informed my aunt that wasn't a vegetarian meal (after all these times). Chase worked to provide a solution to my aunt's dietary needs for her liking. She was an unbelievably gifted server. Lots of knowledge, kind, genuine and professional. They even took the meal off our bill because of all the previous visits she had it. They made sure to take care of us and provide top notch service thanks to Chase. I as a server myself, I was truly impressed.

Staff was very attentive, and they allowed us to sub some of our sides for the usual rice and beans when we mistakenly ordered the carne asada expecting something different. We now know to order the carnitas plate and just sub the steak! We will come again, thank you Azul!

Review Body: I rarely put out 5 stars without reason. Azul's is deserving without a doubt. The service was snappy, the waiters knowledgeable and quick, and the in-house chips and salsa served before every meal gives you something while you wait. Which isn't very long. After only three or so minutes after seating, we were already done ordering even during peak hours. The food was fresh and didn't disappoint. The slightly higher cost is easily justified by the popular and convenient location. Their outdoor seating was open and spacious, and feels great on a warm day. Wouldn't think twice about coming back and it's a great stop for food.

Review Body: This is the 2nd time I've eaten here. It's always busy and I suggest making a reservation before coming. It's not very "authentic" Mexican food, but the food is decent. The carne asada seems to be the biggest seller but it was "so, so" for me. It's served with mashed potatoes which is odd to me. I like mine with tortillas. So overall, the food is good but overpriced. The margaritas are tasty! Yum! And the service is friendly. I would come back.

Review Body: My wife and I stopped in this spot after dropping of a painting to be framed next door. She had the pork belly tacos and I had the AL Pastor tacos, started off with chipotle beef bites. Meat cooked perfect. Flavors from spices and fresh herbs, with unique, complex flavors in each individual dish, not just goo on goo and then some cheese. What a place!! So surprised we hadn't heard of it sooner! Our server, Sehil was awesome, suggesting food and overall super chill person, like your buddy was showing you how bad a$$ his place was. Great atmosphere here, in a really cool town center, we ate out in the patio. If you have missed those days of a killer spot to take friends or family or want to impress a date for dinner, this spot is it! Look no further. I'll be back! Thanks again Sehil

Review Body: Your mouth will start salivating the moment you walk in the door. The minute you start reading the menu all hope is gone. You will struggle to narrow your choices down to 5, then 3, then be seesawing on the last 2 while your attentive good natured waiter humors you and gives you a little more time to choose. The appetizers list was mentally crossed off for us when a bowl of free chips and some of the most flavorful salsa we have ever had arrived. We ordered raspberry iced tea and red sangria cocktail while we struggled with our menu choices. Both were very good. We finally settled on the salmon burrito and jerk pork chops after many mind changes and a little helpful pointers from our waiter. Our eyes nearly popped out of our eyes when they arrived. The burrito was HUGE had to eat it with knife and fork. Be sure to order iced water for back up if you order the jerk sauce pork chops. You will have a minute to savor that heavenly combination of flavors before the spice fact or kicks in. WAHOO YOWZER but soo worth it. All that previous mouthwatering w as well rewarded. We finished with splitting a coconut flan that melted in ou r mouth. Might order 1 each next time and there will most definitely be a nex t time. Need to sample the rest of that menu after all.

Review Body: The hostess, come to find out after our visit was the manager, was amazing! Upon arrival, they were completely busy, as they should be, as being the first most sunny day of 2023, Jennifer was very customer service oriented when we arrived (as we are nothing special from the next). I specifically asked for a table in the sunshine specifically as I was watching a server clear a table while my boyfriend was giving our information to be seated and called upon. She sat us on a four top even though we were two. She didn't have to, but being in the business myself for quite some time, (I'm not going to date myself lol) I recognize she was more than accommodating. She didn't have to but she did. Even later, checked on us and made sure our server was attending our needs. Such a refreshing experience amongst the service industry (that I'm a part of) lately. Kudos to one of our favorite places to dine for hiring such a talent. Thanks again to Jennifer! See you soon!!__

It is a little on the expensive side but Azul never fails to deliver on quality. One area that could make this restaurant even better is an improved happy hour. The discounts are minimal and chips/salsa do not come complementary. Considering happy hour ends early at 5, some better deals would draw in even more business.

Review Body: Super good Mexican breakfast! A little pricey but since they only use top notch quality ingredients the price is actually a hell of a bargain. Weekend brunch goes till 3pm so it's perfect for a late sleeper like me. Sometimes it can take a while to get a table though, so I'd recommend sitting in the bar section if your party is of age.

Review Body: Ok, lets get one thing straight. If you are looking for traditional authentic mexican food and drinks, dont come here. But, if you just want delicious food regardless, then give it a try. Salsa was so amazing, I swear they put a little dab of sugar in it. Chips are warm and perfect. They are not skimpy on the Guacamole and its pretty good. Im from Guadalajara, and I am very used to traditional Mexican food. They don't make micheladas with Clama to (traditional way) and they dont blend the margaritas. I had the seafood en chiladas, quite tasty. Ambiance was nice and the cheesecake was to die for.

Review Body: We went for late lunch which happened to be during their regular happy hour time, 2-5pm and 9-11pm. We ordered a couple of beers and a few food items from the happy hour menu including chips and salsa, coconut prawns, fish tacos, pollo caldo (which is a soup and was surprisingly good!), calamari, nachos and the chicken quesadilla. I really liked the salsa that came with the chips, it was perfectly spiced and creamy. I was pleasantly surprised with the pollo caldo, it had a lot of flavor and a good amount of ingredients including veggies, chicken, avocado, zucchini and rice, that worked well together and it was a good amount (we split it in two bowls in the photos). It was a great recommendation from our waiter. The prawns were great too and the calamari as well. The nachos come in a large plate and are loaded with chicken, avocado, cheese, jalapeños... They were great, though I recommend to go either with that or with the chips and salsa as it ends up being too much chips in the end. The chicken quesadilla was as expected, I didn't dislike it, but it just felt repetitive after having all the other food and I was starting to enter in food coma. Finally, our waiter Sehil was awesome, he made some excellent recommendations and was very professional and took care of us. The restaurant has a cool vibe as well with plenty of indoor and outdoor seating.

Both meals were delicious and cooked nicely. Our only complaint is during busy times, the food isn't as hot as it could be. None the less, we still love it!

It is full of flavor, so robust and just damn good. I order it to go at the end of my meal so I can have more on hand. The calamari and chop chop salad are my favorite lunch combo or the Pepe's Burrito "naked" is great too. Whatever you order, you'll fall in love with the Salsa for sure.

We had breakfast burrito and the 2 egg breakfast with chorizo. Both were very good and filling. The chorizo had just the right amount of kick. I love the idea of chips and salsa on the table for breakfast as well. I really liked the salsa. It was thick and flavorful. Make the choice to stop here, you won't be disappointed
Parking: At times, it may be difficult to find a spot to park.

Review Body: Let's face it, Azul's doesn't really need more five star reviews, everyone knows how amazing this restaurant is. However, tonight I had such an amazing experience that I had to tell the world. I've been eating here for years, as a matter of fact, I work nearby and get take out for lunch frequently over the last few years and have tried at least half the items on the menu. I almost always get the carnitas when I dine in, and they are delicious.

I also love the chicken quesadilla (so crispy), the salmon BLT and the chicken chipotle cobb is great too. HOWEVER, tonight I tried something new and got the tacos al pastor because it was on happy hour and I had a euphoric experience, I mean otherworldly. Oh my god, I've had tacos al pastor many times in Cabo and these are by far the best I've EVER had. Not only do all the ingredients on top taste so unbelievably fresh, but the pineapple pairs so wonderfully with the perfectly crispy grilled pork and a yummy, slightly spicy sauce on the bottom. My mouth is watering as I relive the experience I had. Okay so we know the food is to die for but wait, there's more! We had the absolute BEST service as well! I believe our receipt said our server was Sehil and he was amazing! He wasn't overly-friendly/over-bearing, but he never left us unattended, as a matter of fact he kept the chips and salsa coming before we ever needed more (and we were pretty ravenous to be frank). (P.S. the chips and salsa = best on the planet). As someone who served for four years, I couldn't describe more perfect service! Also a shout out to our favorite bartender and server, Randall! All the people who work here are truly wonderful. The food is to die for and the atmosphere is great! The only thing that isn't great, is the wait list, because everyone knows how good it is! Sincerely, a lifelong customer

Review Body: We found this gem by mistake when looking for a happy hour family friendly spot. We arrived at around 4:40pm and get seated right away (table of 4 and a highchair). We had such a hard time choosing but went with the carne asada tacos, avocado corn dip, queso, kids quesadilla, and chicken tacos.

I've never had a better flavor combination! This may be my new favorite place to eat, and the server (225- we didn't catch her name) went above and beyond even picking up my baby's snack trash and always keeping our drinks full. Also to note- my 2 year old ate more than I've ever seen her eat from a restaurant- so toddler approved also! We love this restaurant and will definitely be returning- thank you for a great first experience! Parking: Easy off road parking beside the building and on both sides in the front. Kid-friendliness: Yummy food options for kids! I bought space for high chairs as well.

The menu included several vegetarian and vegan options which accommodated all members of our dining group. The main courses came with plenty of food, all of which were presented well. The entire meal was excellent and left us full, one of those times when you want to eat more but you just can't. Review Body: Azul is an upscale-ish Mexican/Caribbean restaurant in downtown Mill Creek. It's an attractive contemporary space with half of it a bar area with sports tv's and plenty of tables that hosts the daily Happy Hours (3-6 & 10-12). The Happu Hour menu is big, but they will make other items in HH portions if you ask. The White Sangria for $5 was delicious and a bargain. The Chicken Taquitos for $4.50 was tasty. Our favorite was the Habanero Prawns for $7.50, Don't let the name warn you off, it is not that spicy, but it's a flavor party in your mouth. It should take us quite a few visits to discover everything we want to on the HH menu.

My favorite is the tiradito, which I could eat everyday of the week. Even though it was busy and all tables were occupied, it didn't feel cramped and I could easily hear my husband over the din of the crowd. Seafood enchiladas were very tasty.

Review Body: Azul restaurant in the Mill Creek Town Center is my favorite local restaurant. I love their carne asada which they serve with grilled green beans. I usually do not care for green beans. Too bland. But the grilled green beans served here are terrific. The carne asada is seasoned just right and grilled perfectly to specifications. I like it medium, pink and warm in the center, and they have never missed. I took my son who was visiting from Scottsdale, AZ, and he had the carne asada and pronounced it the best he ever had. The service is always fast and courteous. Happy hour prices are the best in the area. Their bar menu and service is excellent. I do not drink but friends see always pleased. I would recommend Azul to anyone.

Review Body: Their happy hour tacos are very tasty. The pork is juicy and tender. Their sangria is made well. Their brunch is also very good. Their carne asada was seasoned well and cooked to order. My favorite is the chicken fried steak with the jalapeño corn gravy. Crispy outside and juicy inside. For dinner I got the ribs. I was skeptical at first, but they were tender. They weren't falling off the bone, but it was still tender enough that I would order them again.

Our server tonight, Evelyn, was attentive and fun to chat. Abby and Donald, also made sure our experience was the best possible. The food is a fair v alue for the quality. Chips and salsa are on point and plentiful. Can't go wrong ordering steak bites, carne asada dishes, jalapeno poppers, the nachos, with great salads too.

Review Body: My favorite place to relax for good food and drinks. Currently has a super cute patio setup with heaters and windscreens. I can't stress this enough – always friendly and always excellent staff. Their team is really hard to come by and puts in their all. Every time. You can't go wrong on their menu – I usually have a hard time deciding, but my favorite go-to dishes are the wedge salad, quesadillas, carne asada (tacos, fajitas, anything), and salmon with mango salsa.

Review Body: A fun Mexican restaurant with delicious food, lovely service and a nice location. Complimentary chips and salsa were delicious. The salsa sauce seemed super fresh and the chips were crunchy. Could not stop. The margaritas are top notch and fresh. Guavarita was my favorite. Got the spicy blackened salmon taco and the spicy pork belly taco which comes with Spanish rice and beans. Good quantity and tasty. Also got the chicken soup which comes with avocado chicken and a lot of veggies. Good quantity and quality. The main course took some time to be served but we had good company so didn't mind but I hope their service is quicker the next time we visit. Overall, I enjoyed this place and highly recommend it!!

ks are served in a variety of many options for all taste buds. We usually sit at the bar and James is usually there with a smile and a drink ready! Hannah has been our positively smiling waitress as well. The floor manager, Donald, has always been very personable and comes up to us to make sure that we are comfortable and our meal is correct. My favorite dish is the pork carnitas but I change up the sides to the chimichurri chicken. So it has coconut rice, green beans and chimichurri instead. It is out of this world! Their happy hour is fantastic with two different times of the day to catch them at. Have always enjoyed the atmosphere and will continue to come back here for many more years. I got a delicious Grapefruit mimosa and my husband loved his Bloody Mary and was pleasantly surprised it came with a beer back! Chips and salsa (very good salsa) were served while we decided on what to order. Coffee is great! Cloth napkins and sturdy serrated knives added class w/out being pretentious. Hubby had Eggs Benedict– poached eggs were perfect. Delicious

Review Body: I went to Azul for dinner with my partner, and we found it to be a popular and busy establishment reminiscent of eateries in New Orleans, luring passersby in with delicious aromas and lively conversation. We were quickly seated at a booth, and ordered cocktails and food: she had the firewater margarita with the Red Enchiladas, and I ordered the Azul lemonade and a plate of Tacos Al Pastor. While we waited, we enjoyed their house-made salsa, which was incredible, one of the best salsas I've ever had. Our server Monique was wonderful, attentive and charming, and took great care of us. Our food arrived quickly, and was delicious to both sight and palate. We were very impressed and will definitely be back!

While the food at many Mexican restaurants in our area has seemed to taste like salt, the dishes we tried at Azul's were substantive and flavorful – recommend the seafood dishes. Hospitality was excellent with courteous, thoughtful service. Great location in a walkable area of Mill Creek with numerous coffee shops, restaurants, and stores nearby. We'll be back.

Review Body: I am sad. I used to order the carne asada all of the time, either on the salad or the entree. My waitstaff recently indicated to me that it is not gluten free. Historically, however, I had asked at least a few times over the years if it was, and servers had always indicated it was. I don't know if this is actually a new thing or my previous servers told me incorrect information. So, beware, the carne asada is NOT gluten free, even if you've ordered it for years. Dietary restrictions: Carne asada is not gluten free. There are a handful of gluten free items, but that is not one of them.

Review Body: If anyone has a bad word to say about this place it's because they don't want more people eating there creating wait time. The worst part of the Pandemic closure was not being able to get Sunday Morning Bacon Benedict. I buy 32 oz of their salsa once a week to have at home because I've never had better. The Carne Asada is epic. The fish tacos are tremendous. The salmon with the mango salsa and coconut rice is off the charts. I'd say more but if I tried anything else I wouldn't be able to make a decision on what to order so I don't. The staff is so nice it feels like you're eating at a friends house.

If I could afford it I'd eat there three times a day 7 days a week. I've never been there and eaten with anyone who didn't like their meal. Please don't go I hate waiting in line! Also if you play your cards right you can fill up on free chips and salsa before your food comes and then just put it in a box and take it with you for later. Only restaurant review ever written. May keep me from retiring in a warmer climate or asking the owner to franchise wherever I land. Double Hi-Fives to everyone in the building.

The food has all of the flavor that you wish that other places had but are unfortunately lacking. I have ordered several things from the menu and I have never been disappointed! The only reason that I can think of giving Azul any kind of negative feedback would be to keep other people away from there so that they are not too busy when I want to go!

Normally cheese and seafood is a no-go but this restaurant said "no, go...ahead with putting seafood and cheese in a tortilla." Wouldn't say it was anything too special or out of this world, but it was a dang good chilad. If you're thinking Pan-Latin food and want a little bit of variety, then give this place a shot.

Review Body: Very friendly staff , awesome Salsa & tortilla chips... Fried beans they served are very tasty too!!! Vegetarian options: Vegetarian main dishes

s have limited options and we didn't like the raw vegetable choices like cabbage didn't feel like blended well with taste.. lettuce would have been awesome instead of cabbage. Also traditional tacos weren't available in vegetarian options.. if they provide traditional Mexican dishes with lettuce, mushroom, peppers, onions – this place is 5 star for everyone

Review Body: Great place to grab drinks & apps in the Mill Creek Town Center. Upscale casual, w/bar seating as well as family seating. The beef bites are my fave. The crab cakes are a little doughy and just ok. And last visit my salmon was undercooked. Raw in the middle, which is great for sushi but not what I'm looking for over rice & veg, so maybe keep an eye on that. Drinks are good, but the cocktail menu could use some reimagining. You can't go wrong w/sangria though! Service is good and parking is free and adequate. You may have some trouble finding a spot on a Fri or Sat night, but mostly, there's room street-side. Plus there's overflow parking in back. Reservations not required or recommend. Wait up to 15 mins on weekend evenings on rare occasions.

Review Body: Went out for a date with my wife, decided Azul was our jam. Ended up waiting a bit for our entrees...not terribly long, just longer than expected. Didn't mention anything to the waiter, and honestly, it didn't even cross my mind. The manager delivered the food, and upon doing so said, "So sorry about the wait." I replied cordially, not thinking much of it. When the check came by, the waiter mentioned the manager felt bad about the wait time and had compensated our meal. The bill only listed my 1 beer! We were blown away. W e couldn't help but leave an awesome tip and a "thank you" note on the receipt. Lets be real: the chips and salsa are enough for anyone to frequent this joint. But add the incredible attention to customer satisfaction – MAN. Super great experience tonight, and every other time we've eaten there. (Not guaranteeing every late meal gets compensated like ours did, but hopefully it speaks something about the kind of spot this is). Azul, I've loved you since you opened as one of the early adopters of the Mill Creek Town Center (I'm truly an OG from when you used to NOT be busy). You've still got my business, old friend.

Originally I stayed away from there assuming it was gonna be another overpriced Mexican joint in the Mill Creek area(my La Palmera opinion from down the street. I couldn't have been more wrong, the prices are actually quite fair and I never feel under-poured with my cocktails either! The amount of flavor I've received from the entree's I struggle to find comparisons to. Oh what stands out to me the most about Azul is that it's the first restaurant I've gone to where I don't find something I like and stick to it, I literally try something new every time and I will continue to vouch for this place. The wait staff is very friendly and very consistent as well.

My aunt was with us and she is a vegetarian. She has been here before but to our dismay the meal she enjoys wasn't completely Vegetarian. Chase our server took her in detail of everything about the plate and informed my aunt that wasn't a vegetarian meal (after all these times). Chase worked to provide a solution to my aunt's dietary needs for her liking. She was an unbelievably gifted server. Lots of knowledge, kind, genuine and professional. They even took the meal off our bill because of all the previous visits she had it. They made sure to take care of us and provide top notch service thanks to Chase. I as a server myself, I was truly impressed.

Review Body: I rarely put out 5 stars without reason. Azul's is deserving without a doubt. The service was snappy, the waiters knowledgeable and quick, and the in-house chips and salsa served before every meal gives you something while you wait. Which isn't very long. After only three or so minutes after seating, we were already done ordering even during peak hours. The food was fresh and didn't disappoint. The slightly higher cost is easily justified by the popular and convenient location. Their outdoor seating was open and spacious, and feels great on a warm day. Wouldn't think twice about coming back and it's a great stop for food.

Review Body: This is the 2nd time I've eaten here. It's always busy and I suggest making a reservation before coming. It's not very "authentic" Mexican food, but the food is decent. The carne asada seems to be the biggest seller but it was "so, so" for me. It's served with mashed potatoes which is odd to me. I like mine with tortillas. So overall, the food is good but overpriced. The margaritas are tasty! Yum! And the service is friendly. I would come back.

Review Body: My wife and I stopped in this spot after dropping of a painting to be framed next door. She had the pork belly tacos and I had the AL Pastor tacos, started off with chipotle beef bites. Meat cooked perfect. Flavors from spices and fresh herbs, with unique, complex flavors in each individual dish, not just goo on goo and then some cheese. What a place!! So surprised we hadn't heard of it sooner! Our server, Sehil was awesome, suggesting food and overall super chill person, like your buddy was showing you how bad a$$ his place was. Great atmosphere here, in a really cool town center, we ate out in the patio. If you have missed those days of a killer spot to take friends or family or want to impress a date for dinner, this spot is it! Look no further. I'll be back! Thanks again Sehil

Review Body: Your mouth will start salivating the moment you walk in the door. The minute you start reading the menu all hope is gone. You will struggle to narrow your choices down to 5, then 3, then be seesawing on the last 2 while your attentive good natured waiter humors you and gives you a little more time to choose. The appetizers list was mentally crossed off for us when a bowl of free chips and some of the most flavorful salsa we have ever had arrived. We ordered raspberry iced tea and red sangria cocktail while we struggled with our menu choices. Both were very good. We finally settled on the salmon burrito and jerk pork chops after many mind changes and a little helpful pointers from our waiter. Our eyes nearly popped out of our eyes when they arrived. The burrito was HUGE had to eat it with knife and fork. Be sure to order iced water for back up if you order the jerk sauce pork chops. You will have a minute to savor that heavenly combination of flavors before the spice factor kicks in. WAHOO YOWZER but soo worth it. All that previous mouthwatering was well rewarded. We finished with splitting a coconut flan that melted in our mouth. Might order 1 each next time and there will most definitely be a next t ime. Need to sample the rest of that menu after all.

Review Body: The hostess, come to find out after our visit was the manager, was amazing! Upon arrival, they were completely busy, as they should be, as being the first most sunny day of 2023, Jennifer was very customer service oriented when we arrived (as we are nothing special from the next). I specifically asked for a table in the sunshine specifically as I was watching a server clear a table while my boyfriend was giving our information to be seated and called upon. She sat us on a four top even though we were two. She didn't have to, but being in the business myself for quite some time, (I'm not going to date myself lol) I recognize she was more than accommodating. She didn't have to but she did. Even later, checked on us and made sure our server was attending our needs. Such a refreshing experience amongst the service industry (that I'm a part of) lately. Kudos to one of our favorite places to dine for hiring such a talent. Thanks again to Jennifer! See you soon!!__

Review Body: My wife and I are regulars at Azul. The food and service are always spectacular with a wonderful ambience. The salsa is fantastic and the Carne Asada is a MUST order. It is a little on the expensive side but Azul never fails to deliver on quality. One area that could make this restaurant even better is an improved happy hour. The discounts are minimal and chips/salsa do not come complementary. Considering happy hour ends early at 5, some better deals would draw in even more business.

Review Body: Ok, lets get one thing straight. If you are looking for traditional authentic mexican food and drinks, dont come here. But, if you just want delicious food regardless, then give it a try. Salsa was so amazing, I swear they put a little dab of sugar in it. Chips are warm and perfect. They are not skimpy on the Guacamole and its pretty good. Im from Guadalajara, and I am very used to traditional Mexican food. They don't make micheladas with Clamato (traditional way) and they dont blend the margaritas. I had the seafood enchiladas, quite tasty. Ambiance was nice and the cheesecake was to die for.

Review Body: We went for late lunch which happened to be during their regular happy hour time, 2-5pm and 9-11pm. We ordered a couple of beers and a few food items from the happy hour menu including chips and salsa, coconut prawns, f ish tacos, pollo caldo (which is a soup and was surprisingly good!), calamar i, nachos and the chicken quesadilla. I really liked the salsa that came with the chips, it was perfectly spiced and creamy. I was pleasantly surprised with the pollo caldo, it had a lot of flavor and a good amount of ingredients including veggies, chicken, avocado, zucchini and rice, that worked well together and it was a good amount (we split it in two bowls in the photos). It was a great recommendation from our waiter. The prawns were great too and the calamari as well. The nachos come in a large plate and are loaded with chicken, avocado, cheese, jalapeños... They were great, though I recommend to go either with that or with the chips and salsa as it ends up being too much chips in the end. The chicken quesadilla was as expected, I didn't dislike it, but it just felt repetitive after having all the other food and I was starting to enter in food coma. Finally, our waiter Sehil was awesome, he made some excellent recommendations and was very professional and took care of us. The restaurant has a cool vibe as well with plenty of indoor and outdoor seating.

Review Body: We're regulars at Azul and love the food here. Our favorite is the carne asada and margaritas. Today we had brunch and ordered the classic Eggs Benedict and the Tres Carnes scramble. Both meals were delicious and cooked nicely. Our only complaint is during busy times, the food isn't as hot as it could be. None the less, we still love it!

d, parking can be challenging, but the best thing is THE SALSA!! If i could eat it every day I would. It is full of flavor, so robust and just damn good. I order it to go at the end of my meal so I can have more on hand. The calamari and chop chop salad are my favorite lunch combo or the Pepe's Burrito "naked" is great too. Whatever you order, you'll fall in love with the Salsa for sure.

We had breakfast burrito and the 2 egg breakfast with chorizo. Both were very good and filling. The chorizo had just the right amount of kick. I love the idea of chips and salsa on the table for breakfast as well. I really liked the salsa. It was thick and flavorful. Make the choice to stop here, you won't be disappointed Parking: At times, it may be difficult to find a spot to park.

Review Body: Let's face it, Azul's doesn't really need more five star reviews, everyone knows how amazing this restaurant is. However, tonight I had such an amazing experience that I had to tell the world. I've been eating here for years, as a matter of fact, I work nearby and get take out for lunch frequ ently over the last few years and have tried at least half the items on the menu. I almost always get the carnitas when I dine it, and they are delicious.

I also love the chicken quesadilla (so crispy), the salmon BLT and the chicken chipotle cobb is great too. HOWEVER, tonight I tried something new and got the tacos al pastor because it was on happy hour and I had a euphoric experience, I mean other worldly. Oh my god, I've had tacos al pastor many times in Cabo and these are by far the best I've EVER had. Not only do all the ingredients on top taste so unbelievably fresh, but the pineapple pairs so wonderfully with the perfectly crispy grilled pork and a yummy, slightly spicy sauce on the bottom. My mouth is watering as I relive the experience I had. Okay so we know the food is to die for but wait, there's more! We had the absolute BEST service as well! I believe our receipt said our server was Sehil and he was amazing! He wasn't overly-friendly/over-bearing, but he never left us unattended, as a matter of fact he kept the chips and salsa coming before we ever needed more (and we were pretty ravenous to be frank). (P.S. the chips and salsa = best on the planet). As someone who served for four years, I couldn't describe more perfect service! Also a shout out to our favorite bartender and server, Randall! All the people who work here are truly wonderful. The food is to die for and the atmosphere is great! The only thing that isn't great, is the wait list, because everyone knows how good it is! Sincerely, a lifelong customer

Review Body: If you haven't been here, GO! The food is incredible and so is the service. Music and ambience is on point and so accommodating for dietary restrictions (I'm vegan). We had Monique in the bar and honestly I would ask for her because she's so great. Indigo is also spectacular. I don't know who owns these restaurants but they are killing it. The staff seems really happy, which speaks to the management/ownership. I never have had a bad experience at Azul or Indigo. GO GO GO... NOW... what're you waiting for?! Dietary restrictions: Great vegan options!

We plan our trips from Bellingham to Seattle around making sure we can have a meal here! ____ The Carne Asada cannot be beat. Seriously, the best steak we've ever eaten, including places like Daniel's Broiler, etc. The Coconut Shrimp is the same...THE BEST. Another favorite is the Grilled Salmon with Mango salsa. And the fire roasted salsa they serve with chips is ASTOUNDING. Never had its equal. Perfectly smokey, lightly spicy, so fresh. Highly highly recommend. Owners...please open an Azul in Bellingham!! We have nothing like what you do.. You'd make a fortune!!

Review Body: We found this gem by mistake when looking for a happy hour family friendly spot. We arrived at around 4:40pm and get seated right away (table of 4 and a highchair). We had such a hard time choosing but went with the carne asada tacos, avocado corn dip, queso, kids quesadilla, and chicken tacos.

I've never had a better flavor combination! This may be my new favorite place to eat, and the server (225- we didn't catch her name) went above and beyond even picking up my baby's snack trash and always keeping our drinks full. Also to note- my 2 year old ate more than I've ever seen her eat from a restaurant- so toddler approved also! We love this restaurant and will definitely be returning- thank you for a great first experience! Parking: Easy off road parking beside the building and on both sides in the front. Kid-friendliness: Yummy food options for kids! I bought space for high chairs as well.

The main courses came with plenty of food, all of which were presented well. The entire meal was excellent and left us full, one of those times when you want to eat more but you just can't. Thank you Azul for the great dinner, we'll certainly be back soon for what I hope is another great dining experience.

Having Monique as our server made it a memorable one. Such a bubbly and fun person. Made sure our drinks were topped off and was open to our decisions and our banter. Drinks were great no frills. Ambience relaxing, clean. Cons: The booths are tiny. We are some big dudes so it was pretty awkward but we moved to a table and it was fine.

Review Body: Azul is an upscale-ish Mexican/Caribbean restaurant in downtown Mill Creek. Its an attractive contemporary space with half of it a bar area with sports tv's and plenty of tables that hosts the daily Happy Hours (3-6 & 10-12). The Happu Hour menu is big, but they will make other items in HH portions if you ask. The White Sangria for $5 was delicious and a bargain. The Chicken Taquitos for $4.50 was tasty. Our favorite was the Habanero Prawns for $7.50, Don't let the name warn you off, it is not that spicy, but its a flavor party in your mouth. It should take us quite a few visits to discover everything we want to on the HH menu.

My favorite is the tiradito, which I could eat everyday of the week. Even though it was busy and all tables were occupied, it didn't feel cramped and I could easily hear my husband over the din of the crowd. Seafood enchiladas were very tasty.

Review Body: Azul restaurant in the Mill Creek Town Center is my favorite local restaurant. I love their carne asada which they serve with grilled green beans. I usually do not care for green beans. Too bland. But the grilled green beans served here are terrific. The carne asada is seasoned just right and grilled perfectly to specifications. I like it medium, pink and warm in the center, and they have never missed. I took my son who was visiting from Scottsdale, AZ, and he had the carne asada and pronounced it the best he ever had. The service is always fast and courteous. Happy hour prices are the best in the area. Their bar menu and service is excellent. I do not drink but friends see always pleased. I would recommend Azul to anyone.

Review Body: Their happy hour tacos are very tasty. The pork is juicy and tender. Their sangria is made well. Their brunch is also very good. Their carne asada was seasoned well and cooked to order. My favorite is the chicken fried steak with the jalapeño corn gravy. Crispy outside and juicy inside. For dinner I got the ribs. I was skeptical at first, but they were tender. They weren't falling off the bone, but it was still tender enough that I would order them again.

Review Body: This is one of my favorite restaurants in Millcreek's town center. I like the complementary chip and salsa. Food tasted good and reasonable prices. The reason I gave it a 4 stars is because its happy hour ended too early (happy hour is only from 3-5). If they can extend it to 6pm would be great.

Review Body: A fun Mexican restaurant with delicious food , lovely service and a nice location . Complimentary chips and salsa were delicious. The salsa sauce seemed super fresh and the chips were crunchy . Could not stop. The margaritas are top notch and fresh . Guavarita was my favorite . Got the spicy blackened salmon taco and the spicy pork belly taco which comes with Spanish rice and beans. Good quantity and tasty . Also got the chicken soup which comes with avocado chicken and a lot of veggies. Good quantity and quality. The main course took some time to be served but we had good company so didn't mind but i hope their service is quicker the next time we visit. Overall, I enjoyed this place and highly recommend it!!

Review Body: Azul's never fails to satisfy any hunger, any time of day or night! My husband Chris and myself, Chriselda, have been coming here since they opened. We have always had excellent service and exceptional meals. The drinks are served in a variety of many options for all taste buds. We usually sit at the bar and James is usually there with a smile and a drink ready! Hannah has been our positively smiling waitress as well. The floor manager, Donald, has always been very personable and comes up to us to make sure that we are comfortable and our meal is correct. My favorite dish is the pork carnitas but I change up the sides to the chimichurri chicken. So it has coconut rice, green beans and chimichurri instead. It is out of this world! Their happy hour is fantastic with two different times of the day to catch them at. Have always enjoyed the atmosphere and will continue to come back here for many more years. Thank you for your hospitality and excellent customer service, drinks and food! _____

The Shrimp Ceviche was great, a generous amount of shrimp served in it. The steak Fajita was seasoned and cooked perfectly. Served on a bed of sautéed onions and peppers. Our Waitress Ashley did a great job at checking how we were doing, without being over bearing, as some waiters and waitresses can be. I got a delicious Grapefruit mimosa and my husband loved his Bloody Mary and was pleasantly surprised it came with a beer back! Chips and salsa (very good salsa) were served while we decided on what to order. Coffee is great! Cloth napkins and sturdy serrated knives added class w/out being pretentious. Hubby had Eggs Benedict- poached eggs were perfect. Delicious potatoes and great hollandaise sauce. I had a football sized breakfast burrito. So delicious! Service was impeccable. We will be back with friends!!!

Review Body: I went to Azul for dinner with my partner, and we found it to be a popular and busy establishment reminiscent of eateries in New Orleans, luring passersby in with delicious aromas and lively conversation. We were quickly seated at a booth, and ordered cocktails and food: she had the firewater margarita with the Red Enchiladas, and I ordered the Azul lemonade and a plate of Tacos Al Pastor. While we waited, we enjoyed their house-made salsa, which was incredible, one of the best salsas I've ever had. Our server Monique was wonderful, attentive and charming, and took great care of us. Our food arrived quickly, and was delicious to both sight and palate. We were very impressed and will definitely be back!

Review Body: The ambiance at Azul feels like an upscale restaurant that happens to serve a Mexican/Latin American themed cuisine. Food was delicious and seemed well-portioned. While the food at many Mexican restaurants in our area has seemed to taste like salt, the dishes we tried at Azul's were substantive and flavorful – recommend the seafood dishes. Hospitality was excellent with courteous, thoughtful service. Great location in a walkable area of Mill Creek with numerous coffee shops, restaurants, and stores nearby. We'll be back.

Review Body: Ordered the Chop Chop Salad and the Taco special from their Special Menu. The Salad was rather bland. Our server was nice to replace the ground beef with stake if she took away 2 sides that would normally accompany the special. It sounded too complicated but it was nice of her to accommodate the request. I also had a glass of their Red Sangria which was too sweet and did not taste any alcohol. You might want to sneak in your own Tequila like the college days.

Review Body: We came to Azul before the Friday, afternoon Happy Hour rush. Azul is close to my home, and I heard it was a fun spot. I also checked the reviews as well, and figured I made the right choice.....I was wrong. We were seated in a booth. When I saw our server, she CLEARLY was not happy to be there or serve us; I hope it was the former. She was NOT friendly at all. I tried to keep it light and casual, and even asked for her recommendation on what drinks to choose. She said all their drinks were good __. I knew immediately, I was done. I even tried to joke with her about my friend needing several drinks, since she had a rough week, but no engagement, no smile....nothing! From how she walked to our table, to how she placed the menu down, it was clear that she was bothered about something. She made us feel like we were the problem. I asked for a margarita, and the check. She comes back to our table, and says the server added a 2nd shot in error. That was the first time she gave a partial smile. By that time, we just wanted to leave. Only one drink we had, and we were out. I did NOT want to give her a tip, but ended giving her something anyway, because I know serving the public can be tough sometimes, if not stressful. I just figured if the customer is friendly and trying to make the server's job easier, the server would be more appreciative, and outgoing. This server was not. When I received the bill, she writes down "Thank you," on the bill __ Thank you? No, Thank you! I gave her $2, 1 for both of us, and we went to La Palmera down the street. Our server there was outgoing, helpful, and made us feel welcomed when we first arrived. I pride myself on respect, customer service, and make it a point to show people how important they are, even if it's only a brief interaction. I'm just disappointed that our experience wasn't better, especially after a trying week. I'm sure Azul is a nice establishment, but unfortunately, our server ruined the experience for us.

Review Body: This place was a pretty big disappointment. Both my wife and I were VERY underwhelmed with the service (whenever there was any to be had since it took them ten minutes to even ask us for our drink order). Fair enough they were busy so I can forgive that to some degree. What I can't forgive is getting a well done carne asada when I asked for medium rare. Eating shoe leather isn't my idea of a tasty meal. My wife was similarly disappointed with her meal. The big problem I had however was the fact that as far as local restaurant experiences go it's over priced for very "meh" food. If I want good authentic Mexican or south America food there at a ton of better options at a significantly better price point. Maybe this is a great place if you enjoy the happy hour scene and cocktails and wine with dinner (we certainly do) but to be so underwhelmed on what seemed such a great restaurant is sadly a deal breaker for us. We won't be back. It's worth pointing out however that like many other reviews say their chips and salsa are pretty good. Just wish that translated into the rest of their menu.

Review Body: Found free parking behind this restaurant. It was a very busy place. We had a 30 minute wait for our group of four for dinner. There is an outdoor bench available, as well as, small amount of indoor seating while you do. Restrooms inside were clean. Outdoor seating available during better weather. Fresh ingredients. Three of us enjoyed their meal. I was very let down by what I ordered, and expected, versus what I received. Flavors were bland. Hot sauce (habanero sauce) they offered tasted like a soured bolognese with no spice. A different order was their fajita, but the veggies were steamed and not grilled. Chicken was dry. Melted puddles of sour cream.

Review Body: I really wanted to enjoy the experience here after reading the previous reviews, but unfortunately, the poor treatment that I had received from our server as well as who I believe was the front of house manager currently on duty. I arrived to the restaurant with a party of three. We had asked to be seated outside and away from people as I suffer from anxiety, and we were initially seated outside. The server then returns, after already bringing us our water, and explains that she needs to check everyone's ID. I explained that I did not intend on ordering alcohol because I did not have my license with me (I am twenty nine years old, and definitely don't look like a minor, for clarification) and she explained that it was technically bar seating and that we would have to move. I protested, as that was not explained when we were seated, no open bar was present, and I was not intending on ordering alcohol. She said I could speak to a manager if I liked, I declined and said that I simply felt embarrassed and would likely tell others or not return. Despite my declination, she got the manager involved anyway. I re stated my concerns to the manager and said that I didn't feel her involvement was necessary, and she she stated it was because I had "threatened to write a review". At this point; I got up out of my seat, explained that it is my freedom to do so, and that I no longer wish to eat here. I asked for the owner's card or contact information, which she refused me and referred me to the general email box. Please inform your guests of things like this before seating them, and please in the future don't be rude to customers who are already struggling with anxiety when you fail to adequately inform them of circumstances. Staff were rude and disrespectful and I cannot recommend this facility.

Review Body: My boyfriend and I came here for late happy hour tonight, ordered $25 worth of food and honestly with no intention of getting any drinks. We were informed of the $3 drink minimum per person and I reluctantly ordered a $6 drink for the both of us, thinking that we should be covered. Food was great but customer service was nonexistent. We got billed for a drink minimum and was told that one of us didn't order a drink. I tried to explain the confusion and ask to speak with the manager. Not only did she not come by, she just told the waitress that policy is policy. This is absolutely ridiculous, we had all the right intention of getting enough food for the deal and got a drink to respect your policy. The drink was horrible anyways, had the house margarita and it tasted like lemon juice, I could only drink half of it! With that said, I am never coming back again, either with my boyfriend, friends, or coworkers; I am bringing my business elsewhere. This is not how you treat customers. Crazy to think a manager would choose $3 over a customer, and didn't even had the decency to speak with me in person.

Also, can you please get some employees that actually know how a trunk operates? Their online ordering system is also a joke. It locks you out during certain times, and it is not immediately obvious when those times are. It just says online ordering not available. Also, the past two times, I have arrived when the online ordering said it would be ready, only to wait a half hour for it to be ready. I was willing to let that go, because the young man that brought my food out those two times was more than polite. This time the two girls they had working, had no clue. Couldn't operate my trunk. The first girl just came out and immediately ran back inside. Don't know if I will be back.

The meat was dry and had the most overwhelming pineapple taste from what I assume was the marinade they used and all these little chunks in the verde sauce. The meat for the carne asada and chicken fajitas were also dry and bland. The plates are overpriced for bland tasting food. This was an awful experience and an insult to Mexican food or fusion...whatever this place was aiming for. The only good thing was the chips and salsa. :/

Review Body: Got takeout, chicken was charred and dry and the spinach artichoke dip was definitely not worth the money. Quite disappointed, maybe the dine in experience is better.

Review Body: This used to be a favorite spot of mine but unfortunately that has changed. The past couple of times I've ordered chicken it has come to me undercooked. Like pink and mushy undercooked. This is obviously a huge health hazard and has turned me away from coming here. Considering this has happened to me twice, I wonder how many other people have been served undercooked chicken or gotten sick from the food here.

Review Body: Horrible service. Horrible food. It was a complete waste of time and waste of money. I had my hopes up to eat authentic Mexican food. I'm not sure if this is some sort of Mexican fusion establishment but it is definitely not what I expected. They serve Asada with mashed potatoes and green beans! The salsa in comes one way and that is mild. I was really hoping to like this place, but I was let down. Seating is a little cramped towards the back of the restaurant.

Review Body: The waitress never gave us the change from paying the bill. Is that skimming the customer? Is there a new manager? Chips were awful, old, bottom of the bag.
